

LOCKETT PAYS THE PENALTY AT 4:32 A. M.

Negro Murderer of Five Women Dies in Electric Chair—Prayed All Night Long.

(By Associated Press)
Eddyville, Ky., March 11—Petrie Kimbrough, alias Will Lockett, the convicted slayer of Geneva Hardman, and self confessed murderer of four other persons, all women, died in the electric chair here at 4:32 this morning.

Guards took the negro from his cell in the death row at 4:14 and immediately escorted him to the death chamber.

His face bore but a slight sign of emotion as his head was enveloped in the black cap.

Prison Electrician Collier turned on the electric current within 15 seconds and Kimbrough was pronounced dead at 4:32.

Two brothers of the Hardman girl and 17 Lexington citizens together with eight soldiers and 12 prison guards, witnessed the execution.

Kimbrough refused to make a statement when taken from his cell. He prayed continually during the night and sang hymns.

His body was buried in the prison cemetery.

When the death warrant was read to the confessed four-time murderer at 6 o'clock last night by Warden Chilton, he stood unmoved and yawned at the end.

After singing religious songs, he laughed stoically and shouted: "Yes, going home to Jesus to die no more, thank God."

His only comment on the death warrant was:

"I am ready to go, and am not afraid to die." But his hands trembled as he warmed them over the little radiator near his cot.

The negro was asleep at 8 o'clock, but awakened shortly after midnight and began to pray loudly, his voice carrying to all parts of the prison.

Kimbrough talked freely to reporters present as the reading of the warrant. He has not spent a single happy night since he began his career of crime 15 years ago, he told them. Always, he said, he was dissatisfied and went from place to place fearful that he would be caught.

He had no more confessions to make, he declared, but had revealed all his crimes in the interview Monday with the warden; at least all sins which in any way had harmed anyone. The smaller sins he had confessed in his prayers.

The negro spent his last day reading frequently from the Bible, singing hymns and kneeling in prayer. Most of the time he reclined on his cot. He wrote to his father in Todd county sending a farewell message to his people. He ate a hearty supper and afterward smoked a cigarette for which he asked a reporter.

Kimbrough said he was satisfied that justice had been done and expressed appreciation to the soldiers who had saved him from the mob. He also thanked Captain Taylor, of the Leitchfield company, eight members of which had guarded the prison, and presented him with small testimonials which he autographed with the words, "To remember me by." He said he had been well treated by Warden Chilton and other Eddyville officials.

Kimbrough pleaded for clemency for Charles Douthitt, white, and Hoe Hughes, colored, in adjoining cells in the death house, awaiting electrocution.

Douthitt added his own plea through the cell wall and asked newspaper men to say for him: "If they're going to kill me, tell them to go ahead and end my torture."

He has seen eight men pass his cell to the death row while awaiting his own call to pay the penalty for murder.

Kimbrough gave both Douthitt and Hughes Bibles.

He sang "Going Home to Die No More," and "Steal Away To Jesus." He said he had prayed for the little Hardman girl and her people and for everyone, including his enemies.

Religious literature sent him by New York and Virginia ministers was given to him by the warden today. Religious consolation was extended to the negro during the day by Adjutant Thompson, Salvation Army; Prison Chaplain Wootson, and the Rev. Stevenson, negro, of Louisville.

Weather For Kentucky

Rain tonight and probably Friday; colder Friday in west and central portions.

Lockett was 30 years old, a native of Christian county and a soldier at Camp Zachary Taylor, during the world war. His last victim was Geneva Hardman of South Elkhorn. She was killed on the morning of Feb. 4, 1920.

The murder of the little girl near the village of South Elkhorn aroused the people there. Her non-appearance at school resulted in finding her mutilated body in a corn field beside the country road. Posses late in the afternoon found Lockett, apparently a wandering negro, at Dixontown, six miles from the place of her death. He was taken to Lexington whence the authorities spirited him to the state reformatory at Frankfort.

The same night a long line of automobiles, loaded with armed men, made a demand upon the prison authorities for the possession of the negro. Governor Edwin P. Morrow warned the crowd that the negro would be protected at any cost and it dispersed.

On February 9, guarded by nearly 100 members of the state militia, Lockett was taken to Lexington, a special grand jury was impaneled, an indictment was returned and within forty minutes after he was placed on trial Lockett was convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted here March 11.

Announcement of the verdict seemed to anger the crowd outside which had grown larger. A man with a rope yelled, "Let's get him," and led the mob up the court house steps. Adjutant General Dewese, in command of the militia, attempted to halt crowd, but it pressed on the guardsmen who opened fire. Five persons were killed and 20 wounded, one of the wounded dying a few hours later.

Gov. Morrow was advised and called upon the federal authorities for troops. Within a few hours, two riot battalions of regulars were formed at Camp Taylor, Louisville, and under command of Brigadier General F. C. Marshall, were on the way to Lexington in special trains. Arriving there in the middle of the afternoon, General Marshall detained his men in riot formations, with fixed bayonets. They marched up the street to the court house. Within forty minutes, army authorities say crowds were cleared from the streets, pickets were posted, patrols were established, and Lexington and Fayette county declared under martial law.

Lockett meanwhile was confined in a cage in the court house, where he remained until the night of February 10th, when he was taken from the court house, marched down the street in the center of a squad of soldiers and placed on board a special train bound for the state prison. Early the next day, with squads of men deployed at intervals between the railroad station and the prison, Lockett was taken from the train and within a few minutes was in a death cell.

A grand jury which investigated the riots announced that although testimony has been submitted warranting indictments none was returned because they would "only aggravate an already tense situation."

BEND

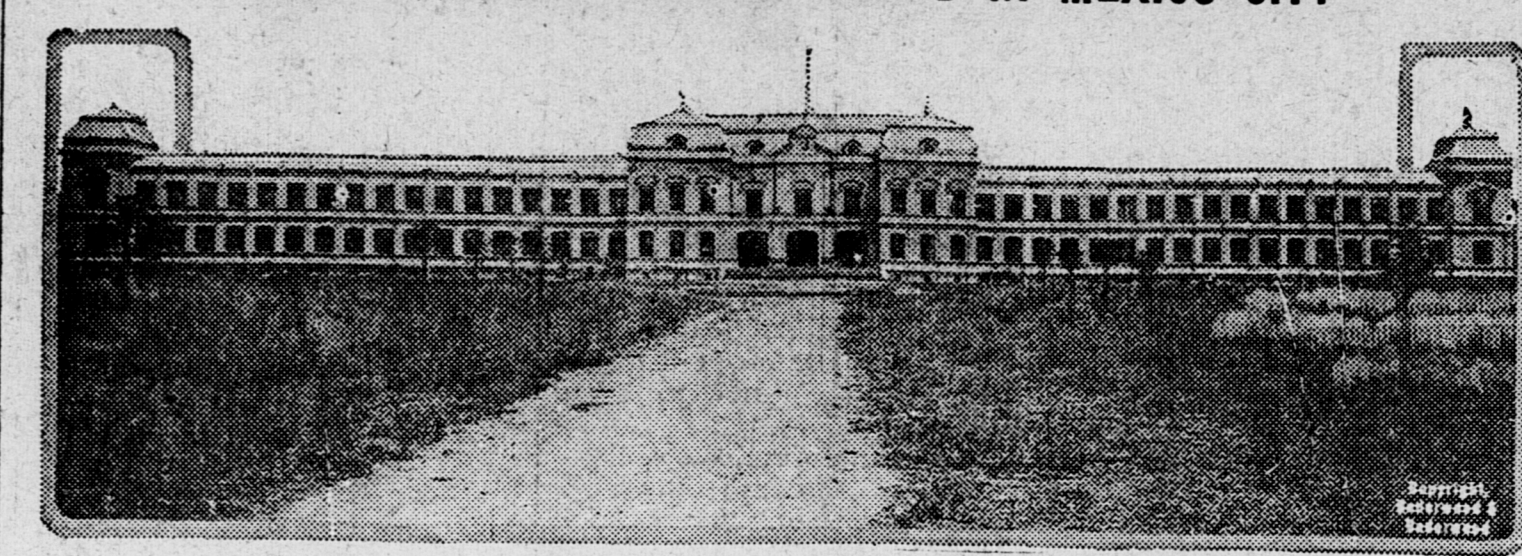

We have been waiting for something to happen. Everything is quiet. The farmers are having their ups and downs; more downs than ups. All kinds of weather now. March is marching along nicely.

The farmers along the Kentucky river are catching every bunch of fodder and bale of straw they can. Provisions are very scarce on account of so much high water in the lowlands.

The moving of Mr. Congleton has caused the farm he formerly owned to look very desolate. No one is living on it yet. About the only reminiscences left are the cooking stove and the old armchair, purchased by someone near Waco, but which have not been taken away yet. This reminds one of the song about the old armchair. When sitting and rocking the Each received a good share of estate except one who only got the old armchair, when sitting and rocking the bottom fell out and a hundred thousand pounds it did reveal. The only hope of this is; "It might have been."

NEW MILITARY SCHOOL OPENED IN MEXICO CITY

Elaborate ceremony marked the opening by president Carranza of Mexico's new military academy at Mexico City. For years the academy for training officers occupied a building connected with the palace of Chapultepec on the summit of the hill by that name. Lack of sufficient drill ground and the dilapidated condition of the building led to the erection of the new school. This photograph shows a front view of the new academy.

JULES FALK HAS TWO TALENTED HELPERS

Miss Wentworth and Miss Ehrlich, who are to assist Jules Falk in the concert at the Normal Auditorium on Thursday evening, both come with commendations from the musical press that make their advent of the highest interest to the musical public of Richmond. Miss Ehrlich is spoken of in terms of high praise as a young pianist of unusual gifts. She will have her own independent part in the program, besides accompanying Mr. Falk and Miss Wentworth.

Miss Wentworth has sung leading parts in many important operas, in the musical capitals of Europe, as well as of North and South America. Her greatest role is in "La Tosca," from which she will give the aria "Vissi d'arte." A number of lyric pieces will also be included in her program.

Miss Wentworth is a soprano with a voice of exceptional worth and richness of color, which she handles with a delicate regard for the dramatic structure of her pieces, subordinating her perfect technique to the demands of interpretation. Mere display has no place in her performance. She has not been heard in Richmond, and the many music-lovers of the city and surrounding country are looking forward eagerly to the concert in which she has a large share.

DR. CARPENTER AT WORK IN LEXINGTON

The Lexington Leader said Wednesday: Rev. Homer W. Carpenter, pastor of the First Christian church of Richmond, who has been temporarily released from his duties in order to become acting director of the Kentucky Division of the Disciples World Movement, has assumed charge of the headquarters of the movement in the First and City National Bank building.

The movement is an enlargement of the Transylvania College Campaign, which was begun last December, and now includes the organizations of the United Christian Missionary Societies and their affiliated interests in Kentucky.

Director Carpenter is directing his best efforts to securing the attendance of every Christian preacher in Kentucky on Pastors' Conference to be held in Louisville, March 17 to 19. He hopes to have a 100 per cent attendance. The railroad expenses of all pastors in the state and a representative of each of the institutions will be paid by the Inter-Church World Movement. Ample provision is being made for entertainment of those who attend the Louisville conference in the homes and apartment houses of the city, the price of rooms being very low.

Director Carpenter has associated with him in the office at headquarters a large clerical force and is calling to his assistance a group of experienced men and women who will help him in the organization of the churches preparatory for the financial drive which will be put on from April 25 to May 2.

As the movement has been enlarged so as to include all-missionary, benevolent and educational enterprises, it is believed that almost all the churches will co-operate in the raising of the one million three hundred thousand dollars in the forthcoming campaign. The right of designation being permitted, churches and individuals may support all the causes of the movement by making undesignated contributions or they may support a particular organization by designation.

MUCH INTEREST IN FEDERAL HIGHWAY

Largely Attended Meeting Is Being Held At Court House This Afternoon

Scores of prominent citizens and farmers, especially along the Lancaster pike were present at the court house Thursday afternoon for the meeting held to consider the federal highway.

All manifested great interest in the project. The people of Madison county want good roads, and those along this highway seem to want it made into a model thoroughfare. The chief question came before them was the matter of raising sufficient funds to take care of their proportion of the cost, which is a quarter of the sum total.

County Judge W. K. Price called the meeting to order and Mr. M. C. Covington was made chairman with Jack Wagners secretary. Reports were called for from the committees, which have been soliciting the private subscriptions. These were being arranged and tabulated as the Daily Register's report closed for today.

SOLDIER BOND ISSUE MIGHT BE SERIOUS

Washington, March 11—A bond issue of two and a half billion dollars to pay adjusted compensation to former service men might result in disaster, Secretary Houston today told the House Ways and Means Committee, which is considering soldier relief legislation. He said the present financial condition is critical but further credit expansion which has been a factor in the upward trend of living costs is inevitable if another bond issue is approved.

This leaves the Richmond district composed of Madison, Garrard, Boyle, Estill, Lincoln, and Jessamine counties.

WHISKY TAX BILL PASSES SENATE

Investigators Criticize Keeping of Stanley's Dog At Pen—The Legislature

Educational Plans Thru

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., March 11—The administration's educational program was practically completed today when the House passed the Senate bill providing for an educational survey.

Senator Frank Rives, of Hopkinsville, today filed a minority report in the investigation of prisons, the House of Reform and charitable institutions. His minority report points out that much of the findings of the committee is based on testimony of convicts who presumed they hoped to gain some advantage in testifying against Warden Pythian. He asserts the report is misleading and unjust and that the only thing the committee can say is there were certain irregularities which should be fully investigated. The Senate deferred action on the minority report.

Frankfort, Ky., March 11—Findings of the committee that investigated the penitentiaries and charitable institutions of this state were sent to the Legislature yesterday. The committee criticizes the fact that garbage from the Frankfort prison went to the prison warden's hogs, and that Governor Stanley kept his dog in the penitentiary a few days.

The fact that Warden Chilton kept his chickens in the penitentiary yard is the only criticism directed at conduct of the Eddyville prison. All of the charitable institutions examined are commended.

The Senate passed the Vance bill, to require the clerk of the Franklin for the imposition of a tax of 50 cents on all whisky, presently, on cases bottled in Kentucky warehouses, 41 to 44.

The House passed the Hamilton bill providing that in cases of conviction for rape the punishment shall be hanging in the county where the crime took place.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the Van Hoose bill, to establish the Kentucky State Horticultural Society and appropriate $5,000 for its benefit. The bill passed as amended by a vote of 66 to 0.

The Senate amendment to the Williamson bill, to provide for the incorporation of the Jefferson Davis memorial, was concurred in and the bill as amended passed.

Senator Newton Bright's bill, to require mirrors to be affixed to seats of motor vehicles, so that drivers can observe vehicles approaching from the rear, was passed, 71 to 3.

The Cruise bill to provide for a probation officer in third-class cities, was passed, 70 to 1.

Representative H. C. Duffy, of Harrison county, Democrat, made an effort to call from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways the Geve-den measure, to levy a tax of three cents a ton on coal production for roads and schools. Representative Duffy insisted that the regular order or business should be followed, even though the Rules Committee was in charge of the business of the House.

The action of the Rules Committee was sustained by Representatives Vose and Cooper, the latter asserting that the committee had been more than fair in its rulings.

Representative Neel then moved that the Duffy motion be tabled, which was done by a vote of 49 to 41.

Bills passed at the morning session follow: Representative Barnes, to establish a standard weight for cereals in packages; Senator Mays, to provide for appeal in inheritance tax cases; Representative Roth, to require drug-gists in first-class cities to have licenses before the may sell liquor on prescriptions.

Representative Roth, to extend the life of the Kentucky Council of National Defense for the purpose of arranging and preparing a history of Kentucky's part in the World War and appropriating $7,500 annually for two years for this purpose; Representative Hudson, to permit the Louisville School Board to issue to normal school graduates advanced teachers' certificates subject to approval of the

MINERS GET 25 PER CENT INCREASE

Coal Commission Makes Recommendation in Majority Report—Prices May Go Up

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 11—A 25 per cent wage increase for bituminous miners is recommended in the majority report of the commission appointed by President Wilson to settle the coal strike. No change in working hours or conditions is recommended. John P. White, representing the miners held out for a higher wage increase, it was said, and will submit a minority report.

The wage increase will absorb the 14 per cent granted when the miners returned to work last November, so that the actual increase is 11 per cent over present wages, but it will not be retroactive.

The majority report also would retain a check-off system and refer differentials to a special commission.

Washington, March 11—The report of the coal strike settlement commission was sent to President Wilson today for approval. Officials would not discuss its contents nor confirm reports that the commission recommended a 25 per cent increase in the wages of bituminous miners. It is also reported the commission recommended a coal price increase to offset the wage advances and that a minority report recommending a seven hour day is included in the full report.

The destruction of that $5,000 home you built a few years ago would lose to you the original cost, plus another $5,000. For it costs $10,000 now to build the $5,000 home of 1914.

Likewise the loss of today of the business property that cost $50,000 before Germany went mad, would be $100,000—probably $100,000 would not replace it.

Political Announcements

The Daily Register is authorized to announce the following candidates for office subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For Congress
RALPH GIBBERT, of Shelby County.

More than 4,000 farmers were accommodated with loans from the Federal Farm Loan Board's funds during the month of January. Their aggregate borrowings were above $15,000,000. These loans were for long periods and at interest rates much below those charged by private lenders. Many thousands of farmers have been directly benefited by this federal loan plan since its inception, and thousands more have reaped an indirect advantage through the reduction in interest rates brought about by this governmental agency. Like the Federal Reserve System, the farm loan act is Democratic legislation and is likely to remain on the books, not threats to repeal it.

Vanderbilt House Home Of League In London

(By Associated Press)
London, March 10.—The palatial London house of W. K. Vanderbilt gave to his daughter, Consuelo, as a wedding gift when she became the Duchess of Marlborough, has become the home of the British branch of the League of Nations. The English government has leased the mansion and official business already is being transacted there.

It is understood that the League of Nations' officials and employees are having troubles despite the magnificence of their surroundings. The great and ornate ball room, for example, while much admired from an artistic point of view, develops cyclonic draughts which cause much discomfort to the unlucky officials and clerks who are stationed in it.

In addition to this house, the League of Nations has also taken two other buildings in Piccadilly, since they needed more accommodations than the home of the Duchess provided.

What is perhaps the most awe-inspiring scenery ever recorded by the motion picture camera is seen in "Blind Husbands" the Universal photodrama of the Tyrolean Alps, which comes here today and tonight.

The photodrama stars Eric Stroheim, formerly of the Austrian army, in the role that will add to the hatred aroused by his part of the brutish Hun officer in "The Heart of Humanity."

Stroheim depicts the role of Lieut. von Steuben of the Austrian army. He goes to the fashionable Alpine resort to prey on all womankind.

Through suave mock courtesy, and strictest attention to her smallest wants, he breaks down the barrier of her reserve and leads her into a mild flirtation.

Failing to ruin the life of a beautiful American girl, although he nearly accomplishes his vile purpose, von Steuben directs his attention to the humble girls of the Alpine village and brands their simple souls with his hot passion. His downfall comes when he launches his puny strength against the might of the eternal mountains. Supporting Stroheim is the beautiful Francesca Billington.

WARD WANTS GAME LOVERS TO ORGANIZE

The Paris News says that State Game Commissioner J. Quincy Ward, who has many friends here, is greatly interested in the task of stocking the woods and streams of Kentucky with fish and game of all varieties, and is devoting to this work a great deal of energy and time in return for which he gets very little in the way of material reward. He delights in it for the love of the sport.

Kentucky, in the opinion of Mr. Ward, needs a strong organization of sportsmen to back up the laws which have been passed for the protection of fish and game. He says Kentucky is splendidly supplied with streams and forests, and should, under proper development, furnish rare sport for the fisherman and the hunter. Deer and wild turkeys, if given protection for a few years, will multiply in this state and all over the Commonwealth there are streams suited for the propagation of the small-mouth black bass, "inch for inch, the gamest fish that swims." It is likely that an effort will be made this year to organize a State Game and Fish Association with branches in every county.

Two essentials of a growing bank—

Soundness—Liquidity

The fundamental essential of a bank is of course its soundness.

Its usefulness in a community is measured, to a large extent, by its liquidity.

A bank may be sound and yet its investments may be of such character as to render it of small service to the varied interests that can properly use it.

A combination of these prime requisites is the rock foundation of a bank of service.

BERT LYTELL

LYTELL GOOD IN THIS ONE

The more one sees of Bert Lytell in a comedy-drama called "Easy to Make Money" which comes to the local theatres Friday the more he is convinced that this handsome star's popularity is well founded.

"Easy to Make Money" is far and away the best vehicle Mr. Lytell has had for some time, and recalls once more that screamingly funny story "The Spender" in which he jumped into sudden fame as a screen star.

The story has to do with an adventurous young man who has a weakness for speed and recklessness. Betting is a hobby with him, and the idea of love never enters his head.

But his Dad steps in and tries to check his downward slide. Here is where Jimmy, the adventurous young man, conceives the idea of capitalizing his tricky way of getting into jail. Between breaking speed laws and disturbing the peace he has spent a good deal of time in the cooler and he decides to make some easy money out of his next visit before the judge. He makes a bet with Dad that he will not be arrested more than once during the year. The bet is a small fortune. Then he goes out and gets himself arrested and sentenced to a year to insure the fortune.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes:
"From the time I entered into womanhood
... I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . .
Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . .
I decided to

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . . .

"It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble."

If you suffer pain caused from womanly trouble, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic
to build up your run-down system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Cardium. It helped her. We believe it will help you.

The Most Improved Wagon is the Weber

You will notice a big difference between your old wagon and the new standard Weber, which we are selling. The improvement is made for greater strength and more convenience. The International fifth wheel is, of course, the greatest improvement, because it strengthens what has been, and still is on other wagons, the weakest point. This fifth wheel is patented and can be had only on International Harvester wagons.

Don't Take Anybody's Word for it

Look for the Carrying Capacity
Marked Right on the Rear Bolster

You do not have to guess how much that wagon is built to carry. You do not even have to take our word for it. On the rear bolster, is stenciled the capacity that the wagon is guaranteed to haul without being overloaded. The Company guarantees the capacities of all Weber wagons according to the stenciled marking.

This method of wagon buying is far better than asking for a wagon with a skein of a certain size and guessing that a wagon with a skein of that size will carry your loads.

We want the privilege of demonstrating the Weber wagon for you.

Her Bank Account

A good old joke is told of the woman who, when asked by the banker to indorse her husband's check so it could be cashed, wrote on the back: "I heartily indorse this check. Your loving wife, Mary." Whether that incident is true or not, it happens frequently in real life that some woman, left alone by her husband's absence or death, finds herself in woeful ignorance of how to manage her money affairs. Thoughtful farmers and other business men these days are opening bank accounts for their wives—as told in a splendid article in the next issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

This bank encourages such accounts for farm wives, and it is glad at any time to receive them and to give to the women the same careful instruction in the use of all its banking facilities that it gives to their husbands. Many women hardly know what to do with their butter and egg money. Deposit it with us! And incidentally, you may rapidly increase the amount by following the instructions to be found weekly in the poultry and vegetable and dairy and beekeeping and fruit pages of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. Let us send in your subscription for a year of the Great National Farm Weekly—52 big, interesting issues for only $1.00—and then watch the bank account grow!

HOOVER TALKS LIKE A FINE CANDIDATE

New York, March 10—Herbert C. Hoover, former Federal Food Administrator, in a letter received by Ralph Arnold, of Los Angeles, Cal., New York representative of the "Make Hoover President Club," of California, declared that he was not seeking public office, and that his ambition was to remain a common citizen, but that he believed that he, "live every other citizen," always should be "ready for service when really called upon."

Mr. Hoover's letter followed the action of a group of Californians residing in this city in appointment of a committee to go to Washington to ask Mr. Hoover to make known his position. The committee included Mark Requa, Federal Oil Administrator, during the world war.

Asserting that while such "proposals indeed are a great honor, I feel that I cannot alter the attitude that I consistently have preserved," Mr. Hoover's letter continued:

"First, I am an independent progressive in the issues before us today. I think that at this time the issues before the country transcend partisanship.

"It is well known that I was a Progressive Republican before the war, and, I think rightly, a non-partisan during my war service. The issues confronting us are new, and the alignment upon them has not been made yet by the great parties. I still object as much to the reactionary group in the republican party as I do to the radical group in the Democratic party.

"Second, I am not seeking public office, and, consulting my own personal inclinations, I do not desire public office. I cannot prevent any citizen or group of citizens agitating that I should take public office, but I cannot participate conscientiously in any organization to that end.

"I belong to a group which think that the American citizens should elect their own officials, at their own initiation and volition, and that resents the manufacture of officials by machine methods.

"I feel sure that if I entered the race for the nomination for the Presidency, and undertook to solicit and spend the propaganda and organization, this in itself would be a negation of the right American instinct, because of the obligations that it all implies. I believe thoroughly that I, like any other citizen, always should be ready for service when really called upon, but to go out and try to persuade the public to call me is opposed to my every instinct.

"Third, I hope to have the affection of my countrymen, but my ambition is to remain a common citizen, ready to engage in teamplay with any organization and leadership that has for its objective the consummation and maintenance of great issues and reforms that I believe to be for the public interest. I believe, of course, in party organization, but it must be for the protection of issues, not of men.

"I am not a straddler of any issue. I pass most of my time agitating for issue in which I believe.

"It is the privilege of all of us to hold our own views, and it is our duty to express them when called upon to do so, but no man can be so arrogant as to assume that he can dictate the issue to the American voters or to the great parties that they support.

"Fourth, you and your friends have urged that I should undertake to organize propaganda for myself as representing issues, by entering into competition for nomination of a great party.

A WISE DECISION

DOUGLAS & SIMMONS

"Aside from the reasons mentioned above, this implies entry upon a road of self-seeking, whereas my view is that I should agitate for the issues, not for myself.

"You rightly say that joining sheer organization without issues merely is office-hunting, without regard to public service.

"Finally, I am not so ignorant as not to realize perfectly well that such a course does not lead to nomination to the Presidency, but I would not be myself if I started on a path of self-seeking to obtain any office."

Chiropractic for Winter Colds

During the winter months "colds" of the head, throat and chest are common, and people are wondering what is good for such troubles. That is, catarrhal affections of the respiratory tract are common during these cold winter months and people who have heard of Chiropractic wonder if it is of any value in such diseases. All kinds of cough medicines and a host of external applications have been tried by most families and still no family has a standard medicine, internal or external, upon which they can rely to "break up" the cold for the simple reason that no medicine, either external or internal, can reach the CAUSE of the trouble; no medicine can induce normal metabolism or the normal expression of function. It can, however, be accomplished by the proper adjustment of vertebral subluxations which in turn permits the normal transmission and expression of mental impulses through the nerves and in the tissues they ramify. One of the most common diseases of the winter months is Bronchitis and numerous cases have completely recovered under Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments. Acute cases usually require but a short series of daily Adjustments while chronic cases will require a long time, depending upon the severity of the case, the length of its standing, and the responsiveness of the patient's vitality.

Chiropractic is the science of Common Sense applied to the human machine and the art of adjusting such machine when it is out of order. It is the Science of Health and the Art of Adjusting the Cause of Disease. Every Effect Must Have A Cause. Disease Is An Effect.

If you wish the effect to cease, get a Chiropractor to adjust the cause by Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments. Modern scientific research proves that approximately most all disturbances in the human structure follow nerve compression. This interferes with the transmission from the brain to the various tissues and organs of the body.

For instance, if you have something wrong in the nasal passage or in the throat or in the lungs, the heart, the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, the bowels, or in fact, any part of the body, you may rest assured that it is due to an abnormal quantity of life current and that the nerve supply to any one of these regions is under pressure along its course. The most frequent cause of nerve compression is displacement of the bones in the spinal column from between which the nerves pass as they leave the spinal cord.

Try Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments, you will never regret it.

They locate the cause of the trouble. When the cause is adjusted, Health is the result.
